

how do you build your walls?

Architect: Nathalie Tremblay

When you build your walls you should expect to get more out of a building product. Buildings today demand reliable, energy efficient building envelopes that provide superior performance benefits to minimize energy costs, reduce carbon emissions, and maximize property value.

NUDURA structures offer greater strength, sound, and fire resistance and are why homeowners and contractors across the world continue to choose NUDURA's Integrated Building Technology as a proven alternative to traditional building methods; while building an eco-friendly structure with substantial benefits that contribute to long-term energy savings.
